

Faux Pas Changes EP, the Mistletonia Xmas compilation featuring Ned Collette, Kes, Pikelet and Francis Plagne, each with their unique take on the yuletide theme.

Title's foxy film collection includes box sets of all the great directors – John Cassavetes, Luis Bunuel, Jean-Luc Godard, Ingmar Bergman and Werner Herzog – as well as Screen Icon box sets highlighting the great works of actors such as Julie Christie, Alain Delon, Catherine Deneuve and Dirk Bogarde.

There is a gorgeous range of Taschen books in store, the world's most cultured coffee table books on topics ranging from art and design to film and pop culture. Taschen titles currently at Title include Bauhaus Archiv, tracing the Bauhaus art and architecture movement; The Golden Age of Advertising (1960s and 1970s); Living in Morocco, Mexico or Japan; and for the more highbrow, The Big Book of Breasts. Hint hint: Taschen books make awesome Christmas presents!

Title Store is open seven days a week, Monday – Saturday from 11am-7pm, Sunday 11am-6pm.

Title Store is located at 183 Gertrude St, Fitzroy. For more info visit www.titlespace.com, www.myspace.com/titlestore or phone: 9417 4477.

THREAD DEN

Lovers of vintage and the vintage-inspired everywhere, Thread Den is now open to service your vintage fashion, fabric and sewing needs. Whether searching for a pre-loved gem, a zipper to match that one-off fabric or something utterly gorgeous from a local designer, Thread Den is the Aladdin's cave you've been searching for. Come in and gush over their selection of new and vintage trinkets - in Thread Den's fabulous retail space, swooning is welcomed.

Have you always wanted to learn how to create or alter your own garments? Or are you hopelessly challenged with needle and thread? Join one of Thread Den's classes guided by experienced instructors. Working gal or guy? Never fear, they specialise in one-off sessions or short courses, on weekends and evenings. Learn to make a summer dress, refashion something you own, learn the skills to put finishing touches on your designs or start from scratch with how to read patterns. For the adept, drop in to the sewing lounge to hire one of the many machines or overlockers.

Thread Den aims to become a hub for dressmaking enthusiasts and emerging designers, providing a supportive atmosphere for anyone in or wishing to join the fashion community. In the New Year, Thread Den will launch forums for the fashion community as well as adding to the array of classes on offer. For more details, visit their website listed below. Fashionable ladies and laddies, present this page at Thread Den in December for 20% off all vintage clothing and accessories. Or enrol in a sewing class in December and receive two hours FREE sewing machine use. Gift vouchers are now available.

Thread Den is located at Level 1, 16 Errol St, North Melbourne (upstairs via Webbs Lane). For more info www.threadden.com or phone 9329 5305.

WILDILOCKS @ THE LOCKWORKS

If you need a different sort of gift for someone on the alternative side then you're in quite a bit of luck this year, as Wildilocks @ The LockWorks has just opened in the Melbourne CBD. This combined hair salon, clothing and accessory store has a uniquely steampunk theme and is Wildilocks' second store - opening just weeks shy of the five year anniversary of their Perth store! Whilst wild hair is the main core of the business - specialising in hair extensions, dreadlocks, eco-friendly intense colours, extreme cuts and vintage styling - Wildilocks @ The LockWorks also offers industrial, goth and rave clubwear from labels such as Covet, Nubia/Vodabox, Random Faerie, Space Tribe and Sylph, along with killer boots from New Rock and a wide range of T-shirts priced under $40, including Threadless [well known to net geeks everywhere].

Accessories are not left out, with chokers from KittyCat Black and Ken Gensrich, ties from Cyberoptix, Wildilocks' own kitty ears, clip-in extension streaks, cyber goggles and quirky sunglasses, and a range of other industrial style jewellery at kickass prices. They're also proud to be the first meatspace stockist of Jellibat subcultural plushies, handmade in Melbourne - check out Jellistein's Monster and all the other cuddly freaks in store! Gift vouchers are available for purchase, and can be redeemed at either Wildilocks store.

Wildilocks @ The LockWorks is located just minutes from the Bourke St Mall - upstairs on the corner of McKillop and Little Collins St, across from The Haunted Bookshop. Open from 10am - 5pm Tuesday to Saturday; and until 7pm on Thursday and Friday. Phone 9642 3384 or check out www.wildilocks.com for more info and their online store, too, with a limited offer of a free DasBunker compilation CD with every purchase, while stocks last!

Wildilocks @ The LockWorks is located at Level 1, 382 Little Collins St [entrance on McKillop St, opposite Octane], CBD. Visit www.wildilocks.com for more info.
